

Know your history

Even the best sounding plans for how to win a case in court can sometimes lead to a result you regret. Years ago a research group was given the task of preparing a manual to help judges deal with unusual cases: cases like you and I might bring to a judge.

Some of those cases involve people like you and me: people who respect the US Constitution: people who believe justice should be decided based upon law: people who know we are a Republic, not a "Democracy." Usually, people with these views mix with courts the way oil mixes with water.

To learn how people like you have been defeated in court, even though they were absolutely certain their "technology" was "bullet proof," click on the link below. You will see many issues "through the eyes" of the judiciary. You will also be exposed to information that will help you decide whether a plan you trust will work or not.

<http://www.truthradio.com/HistoryBook.pdf>

What you will find at this link was developed by the State Justice Institute. under a grant, Award No. SJI-96-02B-B-159, "The Rise of Common Law Courts in the United States: An Examination of the Movement, The Potential Impact on the Judiciary, and How the States Could Respond."

-- Richard Palmquist
www.truthradio.com
www.truthradio.info

—